We are conducting a market research study to understand the experiences of people living with FCS or severe high triglycerides. Through this study, we seek to understand the diagnosis and healthcare experiences of people with these conditions, the impact it has on their lives, and the barriers to care. Learnings from this study will be used to better understand how to improve the experiences of those living with FCS & severe high triglycerides.

Who is conducting this research?

A research team from Throughline, a healthcare research company, is conducting the research on behalf of a pharmaceutical company.

Who are we looking for?

Anyone with a confirmed diagnosis of FCS or severe high triglycerides (clinical and/or genetic confirmation).

What will I be asked to do?

Participate in a 60-minute telephone interview. This will be an informal discussion in which the interviewer will ask you about your experiences living with the condition, including how you manage it and the impact that it has had on your life.

ALL PARTICIPANTS WILL BE COMPENSATED FOR THEIR TIME.

How will the results be used?

The results will be used by the Sponsor to better support people with FCS & severe high triglycerides. Your name and personal information will not be shared with the Sponsor or anyone outside of Throughline.

Your privacy and the privacy of your answers will be respected and strictly preserved in accordance with applicable federal and state laws. Your decision to participate in the study, answer specific questions, or discontinue your participation will be respected without question. You are assured that the highest standards of professional conduct will be upheld throughout all stages of the study.
